

GERMANS DEFEATED AT ALL POINTS ALONG THE LINE

BELGIANS REPULSE GERMANS

Awful Slaughter Occurs at Liege.

FORTS RESIST ATTACK AND ARE UNHARMED

Kaiser's Forces Suffer Loss of Several Thousand Killed and Wounded.

Brussels, via Paris, Aug. 6.—Several thousand dead and wounded is the toll paid by the German army of the Meuse for its attack on Liege. The Belgians made a heroic defense, repulsing the Germans after heavy and continuous fighting.

The fortified position of Liege had to support the general shock of the German attack. The Belgian forts resisted the advance fiercely and did not suffer. One Belgian squadron attacked and drove back six German squadrons.

Eight hundred wounded Germans are being transferred to the city of Liege, where they will be cared for. The Germans, completely repulsed, have been unable to renew their attack on Liege. The Belgians delivered a vigorous counter attack, killing all the Germans who had passed the forts.

The fortifications afforded adequate resistance to German shells. Evening fort, which was in action all day, was unharmed. The Belgian aviators proved every whit as good as the Germans.

Several Civilians Shot.

Several civilians have been shot at Vise and the town has been burned. Le Peuple asserts that in the fighting between Germans and Belgians from near Vise a platoon of Prussian cavalry was almost annihilated by the enfilading fire of the Belgians from a building on the bank of the river.

The Prussians, in revenge, the newspaper says, fired on civilians.

At Flemalle, near Iriguteau, a Belgian force surprised a body of Prussians and killed seven out of ten officers and eighty men. The Belgian losses were two officers killed and two men wounded.

King Albert has assumed command of the troops and has issued an inspiring proclamation to the army, in which he declares that "the perils of a haughty neighbor demands that Belgium shall defend her honor and independence."

He bids the Belgian soldiers remember the army's glorious deeds in the past and to show themselves worthy of the trust placed in them.

French Join Belgians.

French troops are reported to have entered the province of Hainaut, a frontier province of Belgium, and to have joined the Belgian army. Le Peuple says an early landing of British troops in Belgium is expected.

The prompt destruction of bridges by the Belgian troops checked the advance of German troops in the neighborhood of Fleron.

Belgian reconnoitering parties located three German army corps, the Tenth army corps at Eysden, the Seventh army corps, 40,000 strong, at Verviers and the Sixth army corps in another locality not named.

The Tenth German army corps is operating along the northern line and, finding unexpected resistance, moved further northward, invading Dutch territory at Tiltburg and crossing the Meuse at Eysden.

Prior to the attack on Liege, General von Emmich, commanding the German army of the Meuse, issued a proclamation calling for an open road through Belgium for the advance of his forces and suggesting that prudence would show it to be the duty of the Belgian people to accede to this, in order to avoid the horrors of war.

RUSSIA INVADES GERMANY

Frontier Patrols Drive Enemy's Cavalry Before Them.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Aug. 6.—(via London).—Russian frontier patrols, driving the enemy's cavalry before them, have crossed the east Prussian frontier at Lyk and Biala and penetrated ten miles into German territory.

The Russians captured and burned the German railway stations at Bornjemin and Biala and cut communication from Lyk to Johannesburg, the enemy falling back all along the front, burning villages.

KING ALBERT.

Assumes Command of Belgian Troops.

DEVELOPMENTS IN EUROPE

Germany, in pushing its advance through Belgium, has met with strong opposition around Liege, where the Belgian forces, according to official advices reaching Brussels, have repulsed the German army of the Meuse, under General von Emmich. The Germans are reported to have lost several thousand in killed and wounded.

Field Marshal Kitchener has been appointed secretary of state for war in the British cabinet and will have under his direction the military campaign against Germany.

The French troops have joined the Belgians in opposing the progress of Germany through Belgium and it is reported that Great Britain may send reinforcements.

The capture of a number of German steamers by the British is reported and the British cruiser Amphion has sunk the Hamburg-American line steamer Koenigin Luise, recently converted into a mine layer.

Russian frontier patrols have penetrated ten miles into Germany.

BEST CHANCE LIES THROUGH BELGIUM

Germany Evidently Plans Quick Dash Toward Paris.

Washington, Aug. 6.—American officers think in the campaign through Belgium lies Germany's greatest hope of marching her soldiers into France. Even allowing for the necessity of crushing the Belgian army the experts here regard this as the most feasible plan of attack.

For forty years the French engineers, among the ablest in the world of scientific design, have been laboring like beavers constructing fortifications of earth and steel, even including great revolving turrets like those of a dreadnought, that now practically cover every mile of the frontier between France and Germany and south of Belgium.

In the estimate of army engineers these defenses are invulnerable, except as against an army vastly outnumbering the French forces behind the parapets and in the rifle pits.

The American axiom is that one soldier behind such defenses as the French have erected on this frontier is equal to four in the attacking army.

This ratio of effective defensive and offensive power might be reduced greatly by systematic siege operations, but this would involve the expenditure of that most precious factor in a campaign—time, which would not be in accord with the supposed German plans for a dash into Paris.

DRUM BEATS UNITE IRISH

Unionists and Nationalists Toast Each Other.

London, Aug. 6.—Such startling change does a drum beat make that it is entirely probable the spectacle may be presented soon of Irish volunteers and Ulster volunteers fighting side by side. This is the result of Redmond's announcement in the commons that the Nationalists of Ireland would stand with Ulster.

His statements having gone like flame through Ireland, all differences have been sunk. Unionists and Nationalists toasted each other. Sir Edward Carson is busily engaged ascertaining how his hundred thousand Ulster volunteers may best be utilized.

Can't Relay Messages.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Radio stations within the jurisdiction of the United States are prohibited by orders issued by President Wilson to transmit messages of "unneutral order."

GERMANY MAY HAVE WAR WITH ITALY

Special to The Dispatch:—

London, August 6.—Will Germany declare war on Italy, one of her allies in the triple alliance? London would not be surprised at such a move in the light of an Exchange telegaph dispatch from Paris today, which states that Germany has sent an ultimatum to the government at Rome saying, that unless the Italian government supports her allies, war will be declared upon the recalcitrant member of the alliance.

Another phase of the Germany-Austria-Italy situation is reflected in the Telegraph, which in a late edition says it is believed in diplomatic circles that Italy is on the eve of declaring war on Austria-Hungary.

The Telegraph further says that Italy's alliance with Austria was never popular with Italians. The two peoples, in their aims and aspirations as regards Asiatic affairs and the Balkans, are notoriously irreconcilable.

GREAT BATTLE IN NORTH SEA

Special to The Dispatch:—

London, August 6.—A great battle has been, or is being, waged on the North Sea between the fleets of Great Britain and Germany, the Harwich correspondent of the Chronicle telegraphs.

A wireless message received by the British torpedo destroyer Virago orders her to prepare to receive at least 200 prisoners and wounded who are to be brought ashore and removed to the naval establishment at Shotley.

The third flotilla of torpedo boat s which left the harbor yesterday morning went into action immediately and returned last night but little damaged. Details of the engagement are almost wholly lacking.

The batteries of the British flag ship Amphion, commanded by Vice Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, were slightly damaged.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT IN NORTH SEA

Special to The Dispatch:—

London, August 6, 11:55 a. m.—The Chronicle's correspondent at Harwich says an action is proceeding in the North Sea. A wireless message received by the British destroyer Virago orders her to prepare to receive two hundred prisoners and wounded, who are being brought in. Twenty-two German and six English wounded have already been brought ashore and removed to the naval establishment at Shotley.

TWO GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK

Special to The Dispatch:—

New York, August 6, 1:20 p. m.—Captain Hessig of the Uranium line steamer Uranium, announced at the British consulate today that he had intercepted yesterday wireless messages from the Lusitania saying that two German cruisers which had been pursuing the Lusitania had been chased and sunk by two British warships.

THE GERMANS ARE DEFEATED

Special to Dispatch:—

Brussels, 11:55 a. m.—The German arms sustained another defeat today. Two regiments of cavalry attempted a night surprise on the Belgian position at Liers. The Belgian artillery, entrenched behind strong fortifications at Fort Liers, repulsed the invaders with heavy losses.

DISPEL THE GLOOM.

Surely happiness is reflective, like the brilliant light of heaven, and every countenance bright with smiles and glowing with innocent enjoyment is a mirror, transmitting to others the warning rays of a supreme and ever shining benevolence.—Washington Irving.

PORT OF SOUTHAMPTON IS ORDERED CLOSED.

London, Aug. 6.—The port of Southampton has been closed to merchant vessels. The American liner St. Louis has been ordered to Liverpool.

DIPLOMATS HOPE FOR ACCEPTANCE

President Wilson Offers Mediation.

MUCH DEPENDS ON GERMAN EMPEROR

Great Britain and Her Allies Will Probably Agree to the Proposal.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Prospect of acceptance by several European powers of President Wilson's offer of mediation was regarded by American diplomats and at the White House as bright. Should the German emperor agree it is thought the entire situation will be settled by pacific means and a great war averted. Great Britain and her allies, it is believed, will accept.

It is believed the message to Emperor William was delivered before the cable was cut. However, in case it was not, one of the secretaries of the German embassy said he will try to get the message to his government by wireless.

In addition to Emperor William cable messages were sent to Emperor Nicholas of Russia, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, King George of Great Britain and President Poincare of France.

Bryan Summons Diplomats.

Secretary Bryan summoned all European diplomats who are in the city and gave them a copy of the telegram in the hope that they will transmit it to their governments and urge acceptance of the tender. The Austrian ambassador, representatives of the British, Russian, German and French embassies and Belgian legation called at the department.

Mr. Bryan delivered the message to a representative of the legation of The Netherlands and other countries not directly involved, but as a matter of information to their foreign offices. The diplomats expressed no opinion to the secretary, but some of them told newspaper men afterwards they believed the situation has gone too far to be halted by mediation. The Austrian ambassador said, however, that, even if the offer is not accepted now, a sudden turn in the military or naval aspect of the war might influence an acceptance.

Cabinet Supports Proposal.

The offer of the United States was made after many days of careful consideration by the president and his cabinet. The cabinet almost unanimously supported the proposal. From the first the idea has been in the minds of administration officials, but as the president read dispatches from American diplomats reciting the failure of repeated efforts on the part of other powers to mediate in the dispute when it was confined to Austria and Serbia, and later between Germany and Russia, he was not encouraged.

As long as European nations themselves were endeavoring to adjust the situation Mr. Wilson thought it was the traditional duty of the American government not to interfere.

When practically all Europe suddenly became involved and the United States stood forth as the solitary power of absolute neutrality the president acted with dispatch.

The president and Mr. Bryan await answers to their messages to Europe. Difficulties in communication may delay them several days. Some countries, it was pointed out, purposely may delay their answer until later in the conflict. The president's offer leaves it open to them to accept, if not now, at any time as the situation develops.

CANADA CALLS FOR 20,000

Asks for Volunteers to Assist England in Europe.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The Canadian government called for 20,000 volunteers. Commanding officers of militia corps throughout Canada have been ordered to issue the call to their regiments, batteries, cavalry troops and to the people in their neighborhood.

Only men who are physically sound and between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years will be accepted. Preference will be given to those who have had military experiences or who have been trained on marksmanship.

The period of their enlistment will be during the continuance of the present war.

WILL PLAY IMMENSE PART

David Lloyd George Takes Rosy View of Finances.

London, Aug. 6.—David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons that the conclusion had been reached, with unanimous assent of banking and other interests, that there would be no necessity to suspend specie payments.

"It is necessary to economize with respect to the supply of gold," he said. "There is danger that selfish individuals may attempt to hoard gold. It should be made clear to them that they might inflict great injury on their country. In this tremendous struggle finance will play a great part. It will be one of the most formidable weapons in this great war."

CRUISERS LURKING IN ATLANTIC OCEAN

Vessels Leaving New York Run Risk of Capture.

New York, Aug. 6.—With British, German and French war vessels lurking along the transatlantic lanes plied by steamships conditions off the American North Atlantic coast have taken on some of the aspects of a blockade.

Foreign vessels which ventured to leave this port went forth under risk of capture. Others incoming traveled for the most part at full speed ahead, regardless of danger in darkness and fog. Their wireless operators caught fragments of conversation between cruiser and cruiser, or from cruiser to land, but were unable to interpret the text of what they overheard, as the messages were in code.

Each day the number of ships departing to sail from New York for European shores has been growing smaller.

Wednesday only three went out; the French steamer La Lorraine, carrying 700 French reservists and about 300 other passengers; the Cunard liner Lusitania, with 245 passengers for England, and the Greek liner Athina, with 800 Greek, 200 Italian and a few Serbian reservists, for the Mediterranean.

GERMANY FORWARDS ULTIMATUM TO ITALY.

London, Aug. 6.—Germany has sent an ultimatum to Italy. Thus far Italy, though a member of the triple alliance with Germany and Austria, has maintained neutrality.

PRESIDENT SIGNS MEASURE

Congress Provides Money to Aid Americans Abroad.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Relief measures for the 100,000 Americans in Europe were put into practical operation. President Wilson signed the bill passed by congress appropriating $2,500,000 for the financial assistance of Americans abroad. The gold will be taken from the subtreasury in New York to the armored cruiser Tennessee, which will sail for the principal ports of Europe to distribute it.

Negotiations were begun for the chartering of several big Italian steamships, which with thirty-nine American vessels, ordinarily used in the coastwise trade, will provide facilities for as many thousands as care to come home.

HAS LITTLE CHANCE OF RECOVERY

President's Wife Is Surely Failing.

DEATH MAY OCCUR WITHIN FEW HOURS

Four Months of Almost Unbroken Illness Have Sapped Her Vitality.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, lies at the point of death. Four months of almost unbroken illness, a complication of nervous ailments and Bright's disease, have sapped the vitality of the first lady of the land. The end is regarded as a matter of days, perhaps hours.

Her three daughters are at her bedside and relatives have been summoned. Physicians have been in consultation for days, but it was admitted at the White House that hope for her recovery almost has vanished.

Conscious only at intervals Mrs. Wilson has been cheerful and has called constantly for her husband. Every spare moment that could be spared from urgent official duties have been devoted by the president to his wife. Press of domestic legislation, the European war, Mexican situation and the flurry over financial conditions throughout the country have weighed heavily on the president as he has maintained his day and night vigil.

Very Ill for Several Days.

For several days it has been known to those in closest touch with the White House that Mrs. Wilson was gravely ill and that hope for her recovery was slight. The president himself has clung to the hope that she might survive the crisis, but her constitution, drained by months of never ending illness, has been unable to withstand the battle.

One day last March Mrs. Wilson slipped on a rug at the White House, injuring her spine. An operation was necessary. She finally rose after several weeks from her bed, but the burden of a winter's activity at the White House, together with charity work in the slums of the city, brought on nervous prostration. She was well enough to attend the wedding of her second daughter, now Mrs. William McAdoo, but her recuperative powers were not lasting. Stomach trouble added to her nervous ailment and Bright's disease developed.

Three weeks ago she seemed to rally and was well enough to walk, supported by a nurse, in the White House grounds. She watched with satisfaction as gardeners laid out the last of the Italian gardens which she had planned for the south front of the executive mansion.

Took Interest in Gardening.

A marble statue of a baby playing a flute was placed, at her direction, in the gardens near the executive office. With her taste for the artistic developed in many years of landscape painting she had practically rearranged the gardening of the White House in a symmetry of hedges and flowers.

With her apparent recovery the president urged that his wife go to a cooler climate. The heat at Washington was particularly oppressive, but she steadfastly declined to leave her husband. She took an active interest in the contest over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones as a member of the federal reserve board and called for many a document on congressional affairs.

The relapse came last week and since then she has been sinking rapidly. Only members of the family were admitted to the sick room. She had lost in weight until her thin form seemed but a shadow of her former self.

The president, always sensitive about exaggerated reports about members of his family, authorized no official announcement about Mrs. Wilson's health. He had hoped that she might recover. White House officials acknowledged the gravity of the patient's condition and revealed that while they are hoping against hope the end is near.

British Sink Mine Layer.

London, Aug. 6.—It was announced officially that the British cruiser Amphion has sunk the Hamburg-American line steamer Koenigin Luise, which had been fitted out for mine laying.

Very ill for several days. For several days it has been known to those in closest touch with the White House that Mrs. Wilson was gravely ill and that hope for her recovery was slight. The president himself has clung to the hope that she might survive the crisis, but her constitution, drained by months of never ending illness, has been unable to withstand the battle.

One day last March Mrs. Wilson slipped on a rug at the White House, injuring her spine. An operation was necessary. She finally rose after several weeks from her bed, but the burden of a winter's activity at the White House, together with charity work in the slums of the city, brought on nervous prostration. She was well enough to attend the wedding of her second daughter, now Mrs. William McAdoo, but her recuperative powers were not lasting. Stomach trouble added to her nervous ailment and Bright's disease developed.

Three weeks ago she seemed to rally and was well enough to walk, supported by a nurse, in the White House grounds. She watched with satisfaction as gardeners laid out the last of the Italian gardens which she had planned for the south front of the executive mansion.

Took Interest in Gardening.

A marble statue of a baby playing a flute was placed, at her direction, in the gardens near the executive office. With her taste for the artistic developed in many years of landscape painting she had practically rearranged the gardening of the White House in a symmetry of hedges and flowers.

With her apparent recovery the president urged that his wife go to a cooler climate. The heat at Washington was particularly oppressive, but she steadfastly declined to leave her husband. She took an active interest in the contest over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones as a member of the federal reserve board and called for many a document on congressional affairs.

The relapse came last week and since then she has been sinking rapidly. Only members of the family were admitted to the sick room. She had lost in weight until her thin form seemed but a shadow of her former self.

The president, always sensitive about exaggerated reports about members of his family, authorized no official announcement about Mrs. Wilson's health. He had hoped that she might recover. White House officials acknowledged the gravity of the patient's condition and revealed that while they are hoping against hope the end is near.

British Sink Mine Layer. London, Aug. 6.—It was announced officially that the British cruiser Amphion has sunk the Hamburg-American line steamer Koenig Luise, which had been fitted out for mine laying.

The church was beautifully decorated in green and white with a profusion of sweet peas in banked asparagus ferns.

The ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church was read by the Rev. E. Satterlee, assisted by the Rev. Caleb Benham, a cousin of the groom. The bridal attendants were Miss Lulu Fuller of Hubert, Minn., bridesmaid, and Miss Georgia Drexler, flower girl. Mr. Hugo L. Sundberg acted as best man.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY WRECK IN MISSOURI

Thirty-eight Persons Killed and Twenty-five Injured.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 6.—Thirty-eight persons were killed and twenty-five injured in a collision between north-bound passenger train No. 2 on the Kansas City Southern railroad and Missouri and North Arkansas railroad gasoline motor car, running on the Kansas City Southern tracks near Tipton Ford, ten miles south of here.

A relief train carrying physicians and nurses brought the injured to St. Joseph.

According to reports received here both the motor car and the train were running at a high rate of speed when they met at a small siding, known as Tipton's Ford.

With the collision came the explosion of the gasoline reservoir of the motor car, which caused both the motor car and the train to burn. Every person in the motor car was killed, it is said.

The injured were pinned beneath the wreckage and as the flames reached them they begged piteously to be released. However, the fire quickly spread and made it impossible for those uninjured to assist.

The first directory of London was published in 1677 and consisted of only 120 pages.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. HOW TO TEST
YOUR EYES

A SIMPLE TEST FOR NORMAL EYESIGHT.

An eye test that costs but five cents and is worth the price aside from the value of the test is a moving picture show. If you can sit through an average program without your eyes aching or feeling dry and tired and without feeling an inclination to open and close them frequently, and if an hour later, or the next morning, your eyes feel perfectly smooth and easy, there is nothing much the matter with them. If, however, after such a program your vision is dim, your eyes feel dry or irritated or burn itchy or he or feel overworked, try this prescription:

Optona 5 Grains (1 tablet),
Water 2 ounces.

Dissolve the tablet in the 2 ounces of water and use as an eye wash from two to four times a day. This application relieves the tired feeling, seems to lessen the stress or strain and makes your eyes feel smooth and fine. It is a boon after an evening at the moving pictures or after a hard day's work where you have used the eyes incessantly. Irritation, inflammation and many minor eye troubles are greatly benefited and sometimes wholly cured by the use of this prescription. If you wear glasses, try it. You may, to your own surprise, find that you do not need them. Glasses bought at cheap stores without scientific adjustment to the eyes, or glasses worn too long without readjustment, are oftentimes not only absolutely unnecessary, but positively injurious. The use of this prescription may give you a favorable opportunity to judge whether or not you need glasses. It is a simple home remedy that has been used by hundreds of thousands, and among its users many regard it as an indispensable part of their daily toilet.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY WRECK IN MISSOURI

Thirty-eight Persons Killed and Twenty-five Injured.

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 6.—Thirty-eight persons were killed and twenty-five injured in a collision between north-bound passenger train No. 2 on the Kansas City Southern railroad and Missouri and North Arkansas railroad gasoline motor car, running on the Kansas City Southern tracks near Tipton Ford, ten miles south of here.

A relief train carrying physicians and nurses brought the injured to Joplin.

According to reports received here both the motor car and the train were running at a high rate of speed when they met at a small siding, known as Tipton's Ford.

With the collision came the explosion of the gasoline reservoir of the motor car, which caused both the motor car and the train to burn. Every person in the motor car was killed, it is said.

The injured were pinned beneath the wreckage and as the flames reached them they begged piteously to be released. However, the fire quickly spread and made it impossible for those uninjured to assist.

London's First Directory.

The first directory of London was published in 1677 and consisted of only 120 pages.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Halls' Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. WALKER PICNIC ENJOYED BY MANY

Fully 300 People Attend the Annual Outing of the Brainerd Business Men-Clerks

THE INDIAN ENCAMPMENT

Brainerd Defeats the Walker Indians by 14 to 2 score, Fatty Woods Pinch Hitter

It was truly "Brainerd Day" in Walker on Wednesday, August 5. Three hundred or more Brainerd pickers of the Business Men-Clerks annual outing contingent took possession of the town and Walker, out of reference to the visitors, made it a general holiday, closing all its stores to join in the festivities.

As the picnic train of six coaches and baggage car neared Shingobee, at a point near the trestle bridge south of the State Sanatorium, Capt. Wright's fast motorboat, the "Fear-not," whirled into view and raced with the excursion train. Capt. Wright has made 30 miles an hour with his boat which is built on the hydroplane model. Paradoxically speaking, the faster the boat goes, the less she sticks to the water, preferring to stick her nose in the air. On account of engine trouble she did not go over 20 miles an hour and the excursion train unceremoniously beat the boat into Walker.

Upon arrival there the Leech Lake band of Walker in matty uniforms thundered a welcome. Amid cheers from the assembled Walker people, and there were a lot of them on hand, the excursionists including the Brainerd City band and the Brainerd baseball team, disembarked.

The Indian village near the city dock attracted immediate attention. In an encampment consisting of nine teepees and five tents were a hundred Chippewas from the reservation in charge of Peter Graves, of Onigum. Mr. Graves holds an important position at the agency, and is also well known to Brainerd fans, for he is the father of Joe Graves, the pitcher given a tryout by Connie Mack.

For the benefit of the Brainerd visitors the Indians gave their war dance, squaw dance and dog feast, although the latter may have been just used figuratively. Chief John Smith, aged 127, was an interested observer. He looks to be as old as he is. The skin of his face is furrowed like that of an elephant. The wrinkles are the deepest any man on this earth possesses. There are no bones in his nose.

Notwithstanding such a thing as deep wrinkles, etc., John Smith possesses abnormally good hearing. A bystander asked him why he wasn't dancing and he replied: "I like to dance. I would be dancing now, but I haven't got my feathers with me." It appears that feathers are as necessary at a war dance as full dress at a smart social function.

When asked if he had noticed the many pretty lady visitors in town, Mr. Smith nodded his head and said: "Yes, I see um."

To the music of the tom-tom, the Indians whirled about in a circle. Half a dozen beat the kettle drum affair. Among those dancing were Old Bug, aged 70, of Sugar Point notoriety; Kay-zhe-auss, Bay-dah-buss, Kah-kah-buss, Wain-de-go-wub, Way-me-tig-oss-wence and others.

Our own friend Ed Rogers is the biggest chief among them and their representative at Washington. Ed was a general master of ceremonies of the day and as head of the ball team did his best to win it, but lost 14 to 2. In the evening Mr. Rogers was in the swimming contests and paddled a canoe in the war bout.

In the morning the picnicers enjoyed the launch rides about the lake. One large boat carried the Brainerd City band and their friends and sailed past the summer homes, to the north, Glengarry, the agency and other points. The dinner hour came and picnic parties availed themselves of the invitation of Capt. Wright and cooked coffee on his lawn and ate their sandwiches in the shade of his trees. Others, and there were many of them, patronized the restaurants and hotels and the special dinners served by church societies.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Walker Indian team and the Brainerd

City team clashed at the ball park in the shade of the sawmill. It was a scene with a rare setting such as a Brainerd fan had never before observed.

To the right along the sides of the fence and back of right field were the hundred or more Indians of the encampment, squaws, baby buggies, war paint, feathers, etc. Talk about the Indian not understanding the game of baseball! Every time one of Ed Rogers' men ran across the plate there was a diversion around the kettle drum. The drum sounded out its fierce note as the Indians cheered the runner.

In the grandstand were such well known fans as Former Mayor H. P. Dunn, of Brainerd, Judge C. W. Stanton, Pat McGarry, W. H. Gemmell, Rev. Marshall, A. G. Trommald, Ed Levant, Ed Murphy, George H. Warner, George Reid of Duluth and others. Out in the bleachers with the Indians were W. H. Cleary, George West, E. W. Dunn, George H. Gardner, and others. The grandstand was brave in its display of pretty women's dresses.

Brainerd took a running jump at McNamar, pitcher for the Indians, the whole team coming to bat in the first inning and hammering out 5 hits and 6 runs. Such a lead is enough to make an opposing team feel sick at the pit of the stomach. Erickson, the Swede of Nokai Lake, was the first man up and George's discerning eyes refused to bite at any wide balls and he drew a base on four of them. Victor delivered a tantalizing bunt which nobody could field in time. Sheffield hit the ball over the rows of slab woodpiles and scored his two predecessors. Templeton hit the ball and got to second. Bush unconfined a two-bagger which brought in Templeton. Bender went out, catcher to first. Gaven hit and scored Bush, and later died on bases when Alderman fanned.

Alderman twirled in fine shape and but few Indians solved his ever changing delivery. He struck out eight or more.

The Indians came to bat. After Tom Reed and George Belonger had vainly fanned the air with their bats, Ed Rogers got a hit in response to the earnest pleading of the crowd, for Brainerd as well as Walker cheered Ed every time he stepped to the plate. Louis Roy following patted out a home run and two runs chalked up when Rogers and Roy crossed the plate. The next man fanned and that was the end of the Walker boys run getting.

Brainerd continued to pile up runs in the second, fourth sixth and eighth innings.

With an unsurmountable lead tucked away, Brainerd changed its entire alignment in the ninth inning. Tom, also known as Fatty, Woods was put in as a pinch hitter at the head of the batting list, and he delivered the goods, hitting the first ball pitched squarely on the nose amid the plaudits from his admiring fellow townsmen. Amid some more tremendous applause Fatty stole second and ambled down the base line where the terrified second baseman had taken to hiding among the shingle piles. Mose DeRoche cursed his luck when he struck out and was unable to advance Woods any further.

In the last half of the ninth Woods held down the shortstop position. Held down is the right expression, for no position would dare to remove very far from its appointed sphere of action with Mr. Woods resting upon it. Several balls ricocheting past Mr. Woods did not bring him into action. They were grounders and hard to get. DeRoche was on first, Swede Erickson pitched, Tom Templeton caught, Bender was on third, Gaven in center field, Bush second base.

With this upheaval in the lineup Swede Erickson struck out the first man up. McNamar went out pitcher to first. The Indians then put in Peter Graves and he got as far as first. He made second and inadvertently stepped two feet from the bag. Fatty Woods sneaked up and put the ball on him, nearly crumpling up and literally putting out Mr. Graves, who came to several minutes later.

The box score as compiled by John Mahlum is:

Athletic sports were held later in the day. In the evening the water sports were the center of attraction near the city dock. There were canoe bouts, squaw canoe races, 100 yard swimming dash, diving contests, etc.

Charles Kinkle, head of the sports committee, frantically waved his hands at the combined bands of Brainerd and Walker seated in the band stand at the top of the hill and cried out beseechingly: "Play boys! Play! We want some music down here! The Brainerd band had played all along the M. & L. at the ball park where they were encamped so much that they played one selection three times, and later giving a street concert near the Chase hotel and then eating a hearty supper, that some minutes intermission had to be given them before they started on the evening program. The Walker band sat in with them and the united bands then gave a splendid evening concert.

Dancing at the opera house, launch rides on the lakes and other amusements concluded the day and Walker in fact, was such a center of enjoyment that 50 or more missed the excursion train home.

Two Walker residents, speaking of Brainerd Day, voiced the consensus of opinion when they said: "Well, we really had a better time today than on the Fourth of July."

Not a bit of disorder was reported. The Walker marsha walked around with half a billiard cue as his club and made not a single arrest. The town pump situated half a block from Farley Dare's "Walker Pilot" was used to advantage by many who wanted a drink of cold spring water.

The Minnesota & International train service was good, the train starting from Brainerd near schedule and arriving on time.

W. W. Robinson, of Stewart & Walker, Is Impressed With the City and Its Advantages.

W. W. Robinson, of Winnipeg, Canada, a member of the firm of Stewart & Walker, is in the city and the guest of Frederic Wiener, their local agent.

Mr. Wiener and Mr. Robinson attended the picnic at Walker and enjoyed a pleasant outing. Mr. Robinson said the country there reminded him of the Thousand Isles.

Great excitement reigned at Winnipeg and other Canadian points over the war. A thousand men were leaving Manitoba, that being the quota for that province, to mobilize at Quebec, ready for any emergency, they forming part of the 25,000 men called out. The feeling against Germany was not so strong, the people as a rule expressing regret that Germany should have advanced so far in its warlike actions.

Winnipeg has seen a prosperous season this year. The building permits this year already exceed $13,000,000. Mr. Robinson was favorably impressed with Brainerd and its many opportunities for advancement and as a field for investment. Brainerd also had many natural advantages with the summer resorts all about it, which when fully developed like Detroit, Minn., would bring many dollars of Canadian outing seekers and summer visitors to Brainerd. Detroit advertises its resources regularly in the Winnipeg papers.

50,000 GERMANS LANDED

R. E. Quinn Springs One on a Trusting, Unsuspecting Public Which Asks Where

Today R. E. Quinn sprung a new one on a trusting, unsuspecting public.

Bursting into a crowd which was fighting out the war news at the depot Quinn remarked sententiously and breathlessly, as though he had just picked up a bunch of wireless news on the fly:

"The Germans just landed 50,000 men."

Of course the average man thinks Germany has executed the coup on England, but the answer to the "Where" of the landing place is: "On their backs."

ARRESTS ASSAILANTS

Four Men Charged With Assaulting Captain N. W. Olson, of the Police Force, Placed Under Arrest.

Four men charged with assaulting Police Captain N. W. Olson, are being placed under arrest and it is expected will be arraigned today before Municipal Judge J. H. Warner. It is said to have been a particularly flagrant case of law violation, the policeman simply reproving some men because of their loud talk. Before he could defend himself, it is said, he was assailed by four men, one of whom cut his face in a gash which reached the bone.

WALKER PICNIC ENJOYED BY MANY

Fully 300 People Attend the Annual Outing of the Brainerd Business Men-Clerks

THE INDIAN ENCAMPMENT

Brainerd Defeats the Walker Indians
by 14 to 2 score, Fatty
Woods Pinch Hitter

It was truly "Brainerd Day" in Walker on Wednesday, August 5. Three hundred or more Brainerd picknicks of the Business Men-Clerks annual outing contingent took possession of the town and Walker, out of reference to the visitors, made it a general holiday, closing all its stores to join in the festivities.

As the picnic train of six coaches and baggage car neared Shingobee, at a point near the trestle bridge south of the State Sanatorium, Capt. Wright's fast motorboat, the "Fearnot," whirled into view and raced with the excursion train. Capt. Wright has made 30 miles an hour with his boat which is built on the hydroplane model. Paradoxically speaking, the faster the boat goes, the less she sticks to the water, preferring to stick her nose in the air. On account of engine trouble she did not go over 20 miles an hour and the excursion train unconsciously beat the boat into Walker.

Upon arrival there the Leech Lake band of Walker in natty uniforms thundered a welcome. Amid cheers from the assembled Walker people, and there were a lot of them on hand, the excursionists including the Brainerd City band and the Brainerd baseball team, disembarked.

The Indian village near the city dock attracted immediate attention. In an encampment consisting of nine teepees and five tents were a hundred Chippewas from the reservation in charge of Peter Graves, of Onigum. Mr. Graves holds an important position at the agency, and is also well known to Brainerd fans, for he is the father of Joe Graves, the pitcher given a tryout by Connie Mack.

For the benefit of the Brainerd visitors the Indians gave their war dance, squaw dance and dog feast, although the latter may have been just used figuratively. Chief John Smith, aged 127, was an interested observer. He looks to be as old as he is. The skin of his face is furrowed like that of an elephant. The wrinkles are the deepest any man on this earth possesses. There are no bones in his nose.

Notwithstanding such a thing as deep wrinkles, etc., John Smith possesses abnormally good hearing. A bystander asked him why he wasn't dancing and he replied:

"I like to dance. I would be dancing now, but I haven't got my feathers with me." It appears that feathers are as necessary at a war dance as full dress at a smart social function.

When asked if he had noticed the many pretty lady visitors in town, Mr. Smith nodded his head and said: "Yes, I see um."

To the music of the tom-tom, the Indians whirled about in a circle. Half a dozen beat the kettle drum affair. Among those dancing were Old Bug, aged 70, of Sugar Point notoriety; Kay-zhe-auss, Bay-dah-buss-auss, Kah-kah-kuss, Wain-de-go-wub, Way-me-tig-oss-wence and others.

Our own friend Ed Rogers is the biggest chief among them and their representative at Washington. Ed was a general master of ceremonies of the day and as head of the ball team did his best to win it, but lost 14 to 2. In the evening Mr. Rogers was in the swimming contests and paddled a canoe in the war boat.

In the morning the picknicks enjoyed the launch rides about the lake. One large boat carried the Brainerd City band and their friends and sailed past the summer homes, to the north, Glengarry, the agency and other points. The dinner hour came and picnic parties availed themselves of the invitation of Capt. Wright and cooked coffee on his lawn and ate their sandwiches in the shade of his trees. Others, and there were many of them, patronized the restaurants and hotels and the special dinners served by church societies.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Walker Indian team and the Brainerd

City team clashed at the ball park in the shade of the sawmill. It was a scene with a rare setting such as a Brainerd fan had never before observed.

To the right along the sides of the fence and back of right field were the hundred or more Indians of the encampment, squaws, baby buggies, war paint, feathers, etc. Talk about the Indian not understanding the game of baseball! Every time one of Ed Rogers' men ran across the plate there was a diversion around the kettle drum. The drum sounded out its fierce note as the Indians cheered the runner.

In the grandstand were such well known fans as Former Mayor H. P. Dunn, of Brainerd, Judge C. W. Stanton, Pat McGarry, W. H. Gemmell, Rev. Parshall, A. G. Trommald, Ed Levant, Ed Murphy, George H. Warner, George Reid of Duluth and others. Out in the bleachers with the Indians were W. H. Cleary, George West, E. W. Dunn, George H. Gardner, and others. The grandstand was brave in its display of pretty women's dresses.

Brainerd took a running jump at McNamar, pitcher for the Indians, the whole team coming to bat in the first inning and hammering out 5 hits and 6 runs. Such a lead is enough to make an opposing team feel sick at the pit of the stomach. Erickson, the Swede of Nokay Lake, was the first man up and George's discerning eyes refused to bite at any four balls and he drew a base on four of them. Victor delivered a tantalizing bunt which nobody could field in time. Sheffield hit the ball over the rows of slab woodpiles and scored his two predecessors. Templeton hit the ball and got to second. Bush uncorked a two-bagger which brought in Templeton. Bender went out, catcher to first. Gaven hit and scored Bush, and later died on bases when Alderman fanned.

Alderman twirled in fine shape and but few Indians solved his ever changing delivery. He struck out eight or more.

The Indians came to bat. After Tom Reed and George Belonger had vainly fanned the air with their bats, Ed Rogers got a hit in response to the earnest pleading of the crowd, for Brainerd as well as Walker cheered Ed every time he stepped to the plate. Louis Roy following patted out a home run and two runs chalked up when Rogers and Roy crossed the plate. The next man fanned and that was the end of the Walker boys run getting.

Brainerd continued to pile up runs in the second, fourth sixth and eighth innings.

With an unsurmountable lead tucked away, Brainerd changed its entire alignment in the ninth inning. Tom, also known as Fatty, Woods was put in as a pinch hitter at the head of the batting list, and he delivered the goods, hitting the first ball pitched squarely on the nose amid the plaudits from his admiring fellow townsmen. Amid some more tremendous applause Fatty stole second and ambled down the base line where the terrified second baseman had taken to hiding among the shingle piles. Mose DeRoche cursed his luck when he struck out and was unable to advance Woods any further.

In the last half of the ninth Woods held down the shortstop position. Held down is the right expression, for no position would dare to remove very far from its appointed sphere of action with Mr. Woods resting upon it. Several balls ricocheting past Mr. Woods did not bring him into action. They were grounders and hard to get. DeRoche was on first, Swede Erickson pitched, Tom Templeton caught, Bender was on third, Gaven in center field, Bush second base.

With this upheaval in the lineup Swede Erickson struck out the first man up. McNamar went out pitcher to first. The Indians then put in Peter Graves and he got as far as first. He made second and inadvertently stepped two feet from the bag. Fatty Woods sneaked up and put the ball on him, nearly crumpling up and literally putting out Mr. Graves, who came to several minutes later.

Athletic sports were held later in the day. In the evening the water sports were the center of attraction near the city dock. There were canoe bouts, squaw canoe races, 100 yard swimming dash, diving contests, etc.

Charles Kinkle, head of the sports committee, frantically waved his hands at the combined bands of Brainerd and Walker seated in the band stand at the top of the hill and cried out beseechingly: "Play boys! Play! We want some music down here! The Brainerd band had played all along the M. & L. at the ball park where they were encircled so much that they played one selection three times, and later giving a street concert near the Chase hotel and then eating a hearty supper, that some minutes intermission had to be given them before they started on the evening program. The Walker band sat in with them and the united bands then gave a splendid evening concert.

Dancing at the opera house, launch rides on the lakes and other amusements concluded the day and Walker in fact, was such a center of enjoyment that 50 or more missed the excursion train home.

Two Walker residents, speaking of Brainerd Day, voiced the consensus of opinion when they said: "Well, we really had a better time today than on the Fourth of July."

Not a bit of disorder was reported. The Walker marsha walked around with half a billiard cue as his club and made not a single arrest. The town pump situated half a block from Farley Dare's "Walker Pilot" was used to advantage by many who wanted a drink of cold spring water.

The Minnesota & International train service was good, the train starting from Brainerd near schedule and arriving on time.

W. W. Robinson, of Stewart & Walker, Is Impressed With the City and Its Advantages.

W. W. Robinson, of Winnipeg, Canada, a member of the firm of Stewart & Walker, is in the city and the guest of Frederic Wiener, their local agent.

Mr. Wiener and Mr. Robinson attended the picnic at Walker and enjoyed a pleasant outing. Mr. Robinson said the country there reminded him of the Thousand Isles.

Great excitement reigned at Winnipeg and other Canadian points over the war. A thousand men were leaving Manitoba, that being the quota for that province, to mobilize at Quebec, ready for any emergency, they forming part of the 25,000 men called out. The feeling against Germany was not so strong, the people as a rule expressing regret that Germany should have advanced so far in its warlike actions.

Winnipeg has seen a prosperous season this year. The building permits this year already exceed $13,000,000. Mr. Robinson was favorably impressed with Brainerd and its many opportunities for advancement and as a field for investment. Brainerd also had many natural advantages with the summer resorts all about it, which when fully developed like Detroit, Minn., would bring many dollars of Canadian outing seekers and summer visitors to Brainerd. Detroit advertises its resources regularly in the Winnipeg papers.

Today R. E. Quinn sprung a new one on a trusting, unsuspecting public.

Bursting into a crowd which was fighting out the war news at the depot Quinn remarked sentimentally and breathlessly, as though he had just picked up a bunch of wireless news on the fly:

"The Germans just landed 50,000 men."

Of course the average man thinks Germany has executed the coup on England, but the answer to the "Where?" of the landing place is: "On their backs."

Four Men Charged With Assaulting Captain N. W. Olson, of the Police Force, Placed Under Arrest.

Four men charged with assaulting Police Captain N. W. Olson, are being placed under arrest and it is expected will be arraigned today before Municipal Judge J. H. Warner. It is said to have been a particularly flagrant case of law violation, the policeman simply reproving some men because of their loud talk. Before he could defend himself, it is said, he was assailed by four men, one of whom cut his face in a gash which reached the bone.

FORCE CLOTURE IN LIMITED FORM

Democratic Majority Finds This Course Is Necessary.

TO PREVENT ALL FILIBUSTERS

Plan to Limit Senators to Two Speeches a Day on Any One Subject—Hoped That Changes Will Result in More Rapid Passage of the Pending Trust Measures—Egan's Pay Stopped.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—There have been many indications of a determination to force a limited cloture in the senate. Gradually the lines are tightening, and every precedent that has ever been made in that direction is called into activity whenever there is anything like a filibuster in prospect.

Several years ago Senator La Follette was conducting a one man filibuster against the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill, and a number of rulings by Vice President Fairbanks, sustained by the majority, brought about a certain form of cloture which has been revived in order to put through the trust bills without too much delay.

One Session; Two Speeches.
One method to be adopted is to have a single continuous session of the senate—that is, broken only by recesses. The other is to insist that the rule which provides that a senator shall not speak more than twice on the same subject in one day be rigidly enforced. By this system a senator cannot speak for a long time and then resume his remarks.

It looks as if the Democrats were going to rigidly enforce this to the extent of making a speech mean a continuous talk, even holding that an interruption is to be ruled as an end of a speech. In this way a sort of cloture can be worked out which will enable the senate to put through the trust legislation.

Steps His Pay.
They have rather a curious method in regard to ambassadors and ministers sent to foreign countries. These officials of the government are allowed sixty days' leave, but if one of them should get sick while on leave his pay ceases after the sixty days are up, no matter how long he may be detained by illness. If he is at his post and in a hospital his pay would go on just the same, although he would be as much incapacitated as if at home. Minister Egan, who represents this government in Denmark, has experienced a recent case of this kind. He has been ill some time in Washington, and his pay has ceased.

Swanson's Observation.
Senator Swanson of Virginia seems to have been observing conditions in the senate, for he said to a group of senators the other day: "Whenever I hear a senator break out with a statement that a quorum must be maintained and that the business of the senate must not be hampered because of absent senators for any purpose whatever, I can look in the papers very soon and feel assured that I will see that that same senator is spending a few days at the seashore or in the mountains. He always comes in and makes his bluff and then slips out of town."

Barnhart Was "Flimmed."
Congressman Barnhart of Indiana, opposing an appropriation, said, "The people of the United States are beginning to regard congress somewhat in the light of gypsy horse traders, and twice in my experience here I have myself been cheated."

He related several incidents, one of which increased the salary of the president of the United States from $50,000 to $75,000 per year, and then afterward an appropriation of $25,000 was made to cover traveling expenses. "I voted for the $75,000 proposition and got flimmed," said the Indiana member. He said he was being "flimmed" again because he voted for locating the Panama exposition at San Francisco on the representation that they would not want any money, and yet they were back and asking for a half million dollars for a government exhibit.

Sounded Like "Liar."
Congressman Good of Iowa, speaking on a question of personal privilege, where he had been charged with wanton misrepresentation, was interrupted by Burke of Wisconsin, who raised the point that no point of personal privilege had been made.

"Well," said Speaker Clark, "the chair thinks that the phrase 'wanton misrepresentation' constitutes a question of personal privilege. It is a sort of delicate circumlocutionary way of calling a man a liar."

Maryland, My Maryland.
There is something about the proposition for government grain grading that gets on the nerves of Maryland men. When Senator McCumber of North Dakota undertook to bring up his bill for national grain grading Senator Smith of Maryland jumped in and caused such opposition that everybody was surprised, for the Maryland senator is usually mild in his methods.

About the same time the question came up in the house, and two or three men were in the debate who usually have little or nothing to say. Baltimore is quite a grain market.

The Era of Latin.
During about 700 years the Latin language was the language of court, camp and police society from the river Tweed, in Scotland, to the Euphrates, in Asia, and from the Crimea, in the Black sea, to the Pillars of Hercules, at the western extremity of the Mediterranean sea.

Opinion Prevails That No Other Legislation Can Be Accomplished After Completion of Administration's Big Business Plans—Kansas to Have Lots of Money After Sale of Wheat Crop.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Several years ago, when Cannon was speaker of the house, there was a strong desire on the part of many members to go away and leave the house without a quorum, but Cannon checked the desertion by having Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri, then chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds, lock the public building bill in his desk and hold it there until the other business was concluded. This year there has been no public building bill, and consequently that incentive for members to stay and look after their interests is wanting.

Have Their Buildings.
They got around the public building bill nicely, as the senate inserted a lot of public building propositions in the deficiency bill, and that went through "like greased lightning." Of course there is yet a river and harbor bill which might keep members here, for they were not fully convinced that it is likely to be defeated. The general impression is that as soon as the trust bills are passed and the president does not insist upon congress remaining in session there will either be a hurried adjournment or a complete desertion, leaving both houses without a quorum.

Echoes of the Civil War.
For a long time there has been pending in congress a bill to allow longevity pay for certain officers of the United States army. The measure was not well understood, but it developed in the discussion of the measure not long ago that many of the beneficiaries to a great extent would be heirs of men who graduated from West Point, resigned from the army and became officers in the Confederate service during the civil war. There were echoes of the civil war during the discussion in the house.

Executive Dominance.
Congressman Fess of Ohio made a long argument in the house to show that the executive was dominating congress and going far beyond his authority in exerting influence upon legislation. Congressman Montague of Virginia asked: "Is it not the trend of the whole American system, both state and national, to make the executive more prominent and effective in governing? That was shown most markedly in the administration of Jackson and Roosevelt, and it is not now being proved by the people of the country?" Congressman Fess acknowledged that it was a fact and added, "I think the people are rather pleased to find the president leading congress."

Money In Kansas.
A man from Kansas was in town the other day and spoke with pleasure about the $100,000,000 which is to fall into Kansas this year for the wheat crop. When asked what Kansas would do with all that money he said that $25,000,000 would be used to pay mortgages and another $25,000,000 to pay notes and debts which had been contracted for planting, raising and marketing the crop, and he said that $10,000,000 would be spent for automobiles and $15,000,000 would go into the banks to be saved, the balance to be used for various purposes.

Was a Minority Leader.
The late James D. Richardson, who was at the head of the Masonic order for the southern jurisdiction and twenty years in the house of representatives, was at one time a minority leader in that body. His assistant, and a most active one, was Oscar W. Underwood, who for the last two terms of congress has been the majority leader and is to go to the senate next March. Richardson temporarily presided for several days over a Democratic national convention, and he was a skilled parliamentarian.

A Long Service.
Senator Don Joaquín Bernardo Calvo, who is to retire as minister from Costa Rica, has represented that government at Washington for more than eighteen years, a longer service than any minister who was ever accredited to this country. He is a popular diplomat. One of his sons graduated at West Point and another at Annapolis, but whether they are serving in the Costa Rican army and navy I do not know.

Champ Goes Back to Blaine.
Champ Clark held that a resolution providing for final adjournment was debatable one day and the next day reversed the decision. He said that in nineteen years, since he first came to congress, the question had never arisen. In going over the records he had been able to find but one instance where a ruling had been made, and that was by James G. Blaine forty-two years ago. Blaine held that the resolution was not debatable, and Speaker Clark followed that ruling and affirmed it.

Well, She Owned Him.
A woman mounted the step of a car carrying an umbrella like a reversed saber, says the Chicago Post.

The conductor touched her lightly, saying, "Excuse me, madam, but you are likely to put out the eye of the man behind you."
"He's my husband," she snapped, with the tone of full proprietorship.—Wisconsin State Journal.

Purity of the Law.
At Bodmin assizes once a barrister while pleading was interrupted by the judge:

"Mr. Carter, you are wasting the time of the court."
"Time of the court!" retorted the truculent veteran, glaring fiercely at the bench. "Your lordship means—your lordship's dinner!"

The judge threw up his hands in despair, and Carter continued his harangue in peace.

The same redoubtable advocate was on another occasion defending a man charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

"False pretenses!" said he, with fine scorn. "Why, we all make them every day, barristers and solicitors and judges—the whole lot of us! Talk of the purity of the judicial ermine!"—here he pointed derisively to the learned judge, who sat cowering on the bench—"why, it's only rabbit skin!"

Shouts of laughter greeted this irreverent statement, which investigation would probably show to be literally true.—London Tit-Bits.

The Mares of Mohammed.
In bygone days there was no more enthusiastic breeder of horses than the Prophet Mohammed. In the course of time he became the owner of a vast number of mares, and the point was how to arrive at a selection of the very best. At last, says Country Life, he hit upon the following scheme: For three days and nights the mares were kept without water; then they were loosed and, as might have been expected, tore madly off to their usual watering place. Just as they were on the very brink of the water the trumpet blew the war signal or assembly. Maddened by the thirst, the mares forgot their training, all save five, who, forgetting their own urgent need, galloped back at once to seek their masters. These five mares were set apart by Mohammed as representing the pick of his stud, and from them, we are told, descended the best and noblest breed of horses.

The Midnight Sun.
At certain seasons of the year, owing to the position of the earth, there is a territory in the arctic circle where the sun is above the horizon for weeks or months continuously, shining at night as well as during the day. Thus at North cape, Norway, the sun is above the horizon continuously from May 12 to July 29 and at Bodo, not far from the arctic circle, from June 3 to July 7. Even in the extreme south of Norway there is no darkness from the end of April to the middle of August. In the winter, on the other hand, the sun is not visible at the North cape from Nov. 18 to Jan. 23 and at Bodo from Nov. 15 to Dec. 27. There is only a twilight at midday. In the extreme south of Norway the sun is above the horizon for six and one-half hours at midwinter.—Philadelphia Press.

London In 1592.
In Gomme's "London" the author quotes from an account of this "large, excellent and mighty city of business" when Frederick Duke of Wurtemberg visited it in 1592. Here is an illuminating extract:
"Most of the inhabitants are employed in buying and selling merchandise and trading in almost every corner of the world. It is a very populous city, so that one can scarcely pass along the streets on account of the throng. The inhabitants are magnificently appareled and are extremely proud and overbearing, and because the greater part of them seldom go into other countries, but always remain in their houses in the city attending to their business, they care little for foreigners, but scoff at them."

Science and Statistics.
Science was horrified when Statistics discovered that babies to the economic value of $200,000,000 perish each year.
"This must cease!" exclaimed Science excitedly.
"It's up to you," rejoined Statistics without emotion.
But no sooner had Science fallen on and by various devices caused the babies to stop perishing than Statistics discovered that half of these were girls and $200,000,000 wouldn't begin to dress them.
"The laugh is on you," quoth Statistics grimly.—Life.

THE GOOD JUDGE FEARS THE WOODMAN'S LIFE

MAN, you are not alone in your desire for a clean, small chew that will give you tobacco satisfaction!

That's why men are glad to find "Right-Cut."

Then when they've got it, the natural thing to do is to tell a friend—so he can get the Real Tobacco Chew.

Pure, rich tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

If your dealer does not sell it, send us 10c. in stamps for a pouch of "Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco.

FORCE CLOTURE IN LIMITED FORM

Democratic Majority Finds This Course Is Necessary.

TO PREVENT ALL FILIBUSTERS

Plan to Limit Senators to Two Speeches a Day on Any One Subject—Hoped That Changes Will Result in More Rapid Passage of the Pending Trust Measures—Egan's Pay Stopped.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—There have been many indications of a determination to force a limited cloture in the senate. Gradually the lines are tightening, and every precedent that has ever been made in that direction is called into activity whenever there is anything like a filibuster in prospect.

Several years ago Senator La Follette was conducting a one man filibuster against the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill, and a number of rulings by Vice President Fairbanks, sustained by the majority, brought about a certain form of cloture which has been revived in order to put through the trust bills without too much delay.

One Session; Two Speeches.

One method to be adopted is to have a single continuous session of the senate—that is, broken only by recesses. The other is to insist that the rule which provides that a senator shall not speak more than twice on the same subject in one day be rigidly enforced. By this system a senator cannot speak for a long time and then resume his remarks.

It looks as if the Democrats were going to rigidly enforce this to the extent of making a speech mean a continuous talk, even holding that an interruption is to be ruled as an end of a speech. In this way a sort of cloture can be worked out which will enable the senate to put through the trust legislation.

Stops His Pay.

They have rather a curious method in regard to ambassadors and ministers sent to foreign countries. These officials of the government are allowed sixty days' leave, but if one of them should get sick while on leave his pay ceases after the sixty days are up, no matter how long he may be detained by illness. If he is at his post and in a hospital his pay would go on just the same, although he would be as much incapacitated as if at home. Minister Egan, who represents this government in Denmark, has experienced a recent case of this kind. He has been ill some time in Washington, and his pay has ceased.

Swanson's Observation.

Senator Swanson of Virginia seems to have been observing conditions in the senate, for he said to a group of senators the other day: "Whenever I hear a senator break out with a statement that a quorum must be maintained and that the business of the senate must not be hampered because of absent senators for any purpose whatever, I can look in the papers very soon and feel assured that I will see that that same senator is spending a few days at the seashore or in the mountains. He always comes in and makes his bluff and then slips out of town."

Barnhart Was "Flimmed."

Congressman Barnhart of Indiana, opposing an appropriation, said, "The people of the United States are beginning to regard congress somewhat in the light of gypsy horse traders, and twice in my experience here I have myself been cheated."

He related several incidents, one of which increased the salary of the president of the United States from $50,000 to $75,000 per year, and then afterward an appropriation of $25,000 was made to cover traveling expenses. "I voted for the $75,000 proposition and got flimmed," said the Indiana member. He said he was being "flimmed" again because he voted for locating the Panama exposition at San Francisco on the representation that they would not want any money, and yet they were back and asking for a half million dollars for a government exhibit.

Sounded Like "Liar."

Congressman Good of Iowa, speaking on a question of personal privilege, where he had been charged with wanton misrepresentation, was interrupted by Burke of Wisconsin, who raised the point that no point of personal privilege had been made.

"Well," said Speaker Clark, "the chair thinks that the phrase 'wanton misrepresentation' constitutes a question of personal privilege. It is a sort of delicate circumlocutionary way of calling a man a liar."

Maryland, My Maryland.

There is something about the proposition for government grain grading that gets on the nerves of Maryland men. When Senator McCumber of North Dakota undertook to bring his bill for national grain grading Senator Smith of Maryland jumped in and caused such opposition that everybody was surprised, for the Maryland senator is usually mild in his methods. About the same time the question came up in the house, and two or three men were in the debate who usually have little or nothing to say. Baltimore is quite a grain market.

The Era of Latin.

THE GOOD JUDGE FEARS THE WOODMAN'S LIFE

MAN, you are not alone in your desire for a clean, small chew that will give you tobacco satisfaction! That's why men are glad to find "Right-Cut."

Then when they've got it, the natural thing to do is to tell a friend—so he can get the Real Tobacco Chew. Pure, rich tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

If your dealer does not sell it, send us 10c. in stamps for a pouch of "Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco.
